Updated: December 10, 2019

The Trailer program has a new update, and is available for download at <http://www.software-production.com/clients/caao/> .

You will want to review the "What's New" page to see if there are other important changes since your current version.

There are two significant changes:

1. Previously, if you changed the default pricing method for a type of trailers (e.g. from Length to Capacity for Utility Trailers), this change would only affect trailers imported after the change. This version will update trailers already imported for the current assessment year.

2. Another issue was brought to our attention: if a trailer was unpriced or otherwise assigned a price of 0, then the program would give it a minimum value based on the applicable depreciation schedule. Going forward, such trailers will be valued at 0, to indicate that the assessor needs to take action. Minimum prices will still apply where there is a non-zero, but low, price.

Please remember that this download is optional and separate from the process of updating your vehicle data from the DMV.
