FOREWORD

Abstract of the Single Assessors in Connecticut

The history of Connecticut assessing jurisdictions originally began with an elected or appointed board of assessors. The board consisted of three to five citizens from the community who were entrusted with the statutory authority of running the local assessor's office. As time passed, the complexity of the assessor's office became more demanding and time consuming. The need for professionally trained assessors became apparent as many of the boards, most of which were part-time, were unable to handle the workload and complex task.

In this report, the Research/Historian Committee of the Connecticut Association of Assessing Officers has compiled a list of the single assessors who were appointed subsequent to the local board of assessors in all of the 169 municipalities. There is no attempt in this report to determine whether these single assessors were full or part-time. In a number of small municipalities you will notice that the same assessor served in multi-jurisdictions at the same time. These are jurisdictions that believe they do not require a full-time professional assessor, but hire them on a part-time basis. In Connecticut there are still a few communities that maintain the board of assessors structure. In those communities, the municipality usually hires a full or part-time certified professional to work in conjunction with the part-time board.

The information for this report was obtained from the following sources: State Register and Manual, Assessorreporter, CAAO Rosters, CAAO web-site and mailings to the 169 municipalities; personal contact with some assessors, newspaper articles, town and city directories, e-mails, requests for information through the Assessorreporter and the placement of the final report on the CAAO web-site for verification.

Some of the more interesting facts derived from the study include: The title of the assessor has a number of variables including: the city of New London; 1982 to 1992, Assessor/Real Estate Director; Tax Assessor in Trumbull; Chief Assessor in Hamden; Expert Assessor in New Britain, 1959 to 1966; Tax Commissioner in Norwalk prior to 1982; Director of Assessment and Collection, West Hartford, and Assessing Officer in Derby. Many former chairmen of the board of assessors who had experience and knowledge assumed the position of single assessor once it became available. The role of the female assessor has increased over the years in both the small and medium size communities.

There are a number of shortcomings in this report. One of the more revealing elements in putting this report together is the amount of conflicting information there is with the various data sources used to complete it. Variation in dates, omission of data, or lack of information, are just a few of the problems associated with trying to make this study more accurate. The employment dates, although not perfect, represent the best information available at the time of this study. While great effort was made to produce an accurate report, the committee welcomes any additional information or corrections.

2024 Movement of Assessors

There were four assessors who reached the 20-year milestone as head assessors in the same municipality in 2024. They include Cromwell Assessor Shawna Baron, Andover Assessor John Chaponis, Darien Assessor Anthony Homicki and New Britain Assessor Michael Konik. John Chaponis has also been the assessor of Colchester for 32 years.

The following towns have appointed a new assessor during 2024. Canton Della Froment, Glastonbury Brian Penney Interim assessor, Griswold Norm Wood Interim assessor, Killingworth Shauna Ham, Lyme Jennifer Thomas, Meriden Donna Calicchio, Newington Larry LaBarbera Interim Assessor, Norwalk Paul Gorman appointed assessor from interim assessor, Old Saybrook Bridget Riordan, Sprague Paige Walton, Thomaston Jennifer O'Neill, Torrington Stacie Maldonado, Voluntown Catherine Sarvas, Waterbury Thomas DiStasio, Windsor Joshua Gaston, Woodstock Loni Wright

A new report was added to this year's publication entitled, "The Makeup of the Head Assessors Position in Connecticut." The report gives a breakdown of the head assessor's position as to the makeup of women, men and board of assessors from 1960 to 2020.

The following towns appointed a new assessor during 2023. Branford Paula Jensen, Bridgewater Cory Iacino, Brooklyn Rachel Ferreria, East Hartford Anouphen Kohier, Franklin Kimberly Bechard, Hebron Suzanne Topliff, Lebanon Gail Gwiazdowski, Lisbon Rosalyn Dupuis, Manchester Tami Nomack, Norwalk Paul Gorman Interim assessor, Putnam Tina Corriveau, Seymour Tara Keller Interim assessor, Somers Karen Neal, Trumbull Elizabeth Duffy, Vernon Christine Clarke, Wethersfield Walter Topliff, Jr., Wilton Hollie Rapp, Winchester Linda Velez

There were four assessors who reached the 20-year milestone as head assessors in the same municipality in 2023. They include Durham Assessor John Philip, Essex Assessor Jessica Sypher, Montville Assessor Lucy Beit and North Stonington Assessor Darryl Del Grosso.

2022 Movement of Assessors

The long tenured board of assessors in Lyme went to a part time certified assessor and a board of assessors. , Waterbury Assessor David Dietsch retired after 26 years as the assessor of that municipality. Michael Moriarty is filling in at Waterbury. Mike was the assessor in Waterbury from 1995-1996. Mildred Peringer retired from the town of Preston after a 37-year career. Mildred was currently eighth, as of 2022, in the longevity category for assessors serving in the same municipality. Also, if you see blow in the new assessor paragraph, you will notice an increase of interim or acting assessors being appointed. There are a lot of changes going on.

There were four assessors who reached the 20-year milestone as head assessors in the same municipality in 2022. They include Bridgewater Assessor Denise Pinter, Granby Assessor Susan Altieri, Manchester Assessor John Rainaldi and Vernon Assessor David Wheeler. There are 16 assessors with 20 or more years of service in the same municipality that are still working.

The following towns appointed a new assessor during 2022. Ashford Lynn Byberg, Bloomfield Vincentia Midodzi, Bolton Kara Fishman, Canton Paige Walton, Chester Emily Eckenroth, Colebrook David Dietsch, Cornwall Kayla Johnson, Coventry John Preisner, East Granby Donna Murphy Interim, Ellington John Rainaldi, Guilford Rebecca Zychowski, Hebron Tina Corriveau, Hamden Sajida Farooqui, Litchfield Christopher Kelsey, Lyme Melinda Kronfeld, Newington Fauna Eller, Plainville Sarah Carey, Preston Adrianna Hedwall, Putnam Rachel Ferreira, Scotland Mary Hawley, Wallingford Kevin Coons, Washington Cory Iacino, Waterbury, Michael Moriarty (Interim), Willington Kara Fishman, Winchester Josh Dionne, Wolcott Darlene Gelinias.

The 2020 census figures have been update for the 169 Connecticut cities and towns. After a long delay the figures became official on April 26, 2021. According to published reports from the U.S. Census Bureau, Connecticut had the fourth smallest population growth of any state from 2010 to 2020. Connecticut population grew 1 %. Comparing the 2010 figures to the 2020 figures there were 53 municipalities in Connecticut that lost population.

There were two assessors who reached the 20-year milestone as head assessor in the same municipality in 2021. They include Bozrah Assessor Loreta Zdanys and Seymour Assessor Joseph Kusiak. They both started as the head assessor in 2001. There are 13 assessors with 20 or more years of service in the same municipality that are still working.

Moving up in the longevity ranks is Ridgefield Assessor Alfred Garzi who is in a three way tie for second place with former Old Lyme Assessor Walter Kent and former Tolland Assessor Walter Lawrence, with 38 years as the head assessor in same municipality. East Haven Assessor Mike Milici retired April 2021 after a 31-year career as the assessor of that town. Pat Braislin retired from the Town of Kent after 35 years as the assessor. Shelby Jackson III moved on after 22 years in Wallingford. Shelby became the assessor of Naugatuck in 2021.

The following towns appointed a new assessor during 2021. Ansonia David Graybosch II, Brooklyn Stephanie Kosoff, Colebrook Susan Altieri, East Haddam Interim Assessor Irene Luciano, Enfield Todd Helems, Griswold 12/29/20 Rosalyn Dupuis, Kent Jennifer Dubray, Killingly Kathleen Thornton, Marlborough Simon Wake, Middlefield Pamela Deziel, Milford Marcus Irrek, Naugatuck Shelby Jackson, New London Donna Ralston, Newtown Kathy Brown, Norfolk Lucy Hussman (Interim), Norwich William Lee, Plymouth Kelly Conrad, Suffield Lisa Trase, Wallingford Acting Assessor Kevin Coons, Winchester Jill Healey and Cory Iacino Co-Assessors,

2020 Movement of Assessors

With the COVID-19 pandemic closing Connecticut town halls starting in mid March, you wonder whether this had an effect on the hiring of a new assessor? During the course of the year there have been up to eleven head assessor positions open. Some of the openings have been for an extensive period. For more information on the COVID-19 pandemic go to the CAAO Web Site under Research / Historian Committee

The following towns have appointed a new assessor during 2020: They include: Bethany Betsy Quist, Bethlehem Elizabeth Paul, Canterbury Angel Johnstone, Danbury Donna Murphy, East Hampton Deborah Copp, Hamden David Stannard, Lisbon Gail Gwiazdowski, Mansfield Rochelle

Lambert, New Hartford Elizabeth Domas, Norwalk William Ford, Oxford Penny Mudgett, Prospect Betsy Quist, Sharon Jennifer Dubray, Southbury Darcel Peters, Sprague Michael Kapinos Jr., Stonington Jennifer Lineaweaver, Thompson Paul Hopkins, Washington Daniel Kenny, Watertown Faith Richmond, Westbrook Wendy Leone, Windsor Locks John Creed and Woodbridge Marsha Benno.

Mario Panagrosso stepped down as the assessor of Bethany after a 21-year career. Mario was also the former assessor of Cheshire for 22 years (1994-2016). Another long tenured assessor who retired this year was Stonington Assessor Marsha Standish. She was the assessor of Stonington for 24 years (1996-2020).

Berlin Assessor Joseph Ferraro is the only assessor who has been employed in the same municipality for 20 or more years as the head assessor during 2020. Joe was appointed as the Berlin assessor in 2000. At the present time there are 14 assessors currently working that have served in the same municipality for 20 year or more.

Swapping assessors: It is not uncommon for Connecticut assessors to switch jobs from one Connecticut municipality to another, but it's another thing of switching from one state to another. In January 2020, Windsor Locks Assessor Elizabeth Duffy was appointed as the new assessor in Amherst Massachusetts. Also in January William J. Ford, Worcester Massachusetts assessor became the new assessor in Norwalk, Connecticut.

On a sadder note, Teresa Geremski, assessor of Cheshire, passed away on May 12, 2020. Teresa was also the former assessor in Oxford 2018-2019.

2019 Movement of Assessors

2019 marks the 10th year that the CAAO Research/Historian Committee has published the Abstract of the Single Assessors in Connecticut. The publication started in 2009 documenting the movement of the single head assessors' position in the 169 municipalities. One of the interesting pages in this publication is entitled "Changes in the Assessors positions in Connecticut Municipalities 2009-2019." There have been over 150 changes in the head assessors' position since 2009.

Included in this publication are some refinements and updates in those towns that consisted of a board of assessors and an appointed assessor. There were seven towns in this category that have dissolved their board of assessors and are now structured with only a single assessor. Those towns include: Beacon Falls, Branford, Plymouth, Somers, Sprague, Warren and Windsor Locks. The termination of these boards occurred between 2008 - 2016. There are three towns that still retain the structure of a board of assessors and an appointed assessor. They include Colebrook, Goshen and West Hartford. There are two towns that have just a board of assessors. They include Hartland and Lyme.

The following towns have appointed a new assessor during 2019. They include: Canton Kerri Kazlauskas, Cheshire Teresa Geremski, Colebrook Cory Iacino, Farmington David Gardner, Meriden Melinda Fonda, Milford Acting Assessor Marcus Irrek, New London Rochelle Lambert, New Milford Brian Lastra, Norfolk Cory Iacino, Oxford Daniel Kenny, Pomfret Gail Gwiazdowski, Salem Michael Kapinos, Jr., Simsbury Francine Beland, Stratford Donna Otlowski, Voluntown Chandler Rose and Waterford Paige Walton.

Four assessors have reached the 20-year milestone as being employed in same municipality for 20 or more years as the head assessor during 2019. They include Sherman Assessor Alfred Garzi, Union Assessor Mary Huda, Wallingford Assessor Shelby Jackson III and Bethany Assessor Mario Panagrosso, Jr. The four assessors started their assessing careers in those towns in 1999. Alfred Garzi has also served 36 years as the assessor of Ridgefield and currently resides as the assessor. Mario Panagrosso, Jr. had served as the assessor of Cheshire for 22 years. He stepped down from that position 2016. Mr. Panagrosso has retained the assessor's position in Bethany since. There are currently 16 assessors with 20 or more years of service in the same municipality that are still working.

One of the updates for this 2018 publication was a consolidation of starting dates for assessors first appointed as acting assessors. For those first appointed in acting positions and then subsequently appointed as the assessor, the year they were appointed acting assessor will be used as the starting date of employment. No change will be made to acting assessors that did not assume the assessors position.

The following towns have appointed a new assessor during 2018. They include: Barkhamsted Carmen Smith, Danbury Brian Lastra, Derby Betsy Quist, Easton Rachel Maciulewski, East Windsor Helen Totz, Guilford Jennifer Bernardo, Haddam Tammy Anderson, Hamden John Gelati, Hampton Jody Heon, Middlefield Steven Hodgetts, Middlefield Christine Barta, New Milford David Stannard*, Oxford Teresa Geremski, Pomfret Kathleen Thornton, Southington Teresa Babon Director of Assessment & Revenue, Suffield Donna Murphy, Torrington Thomas DiStasio, Voluntown Jody Heon, Willington Richard Kryzak, Willington Walter Topliff, Jr., Wilton Sarah Scacco, Woodstock Emily Carlone. (*Left New Milford in 2018.  Interim assessors in Middlefield and Willington)

Only two assessors have reached the 20-year milestone as being employed in one municipality for 20 or more years during 2018. They include East Windsor Assessor Caroline Madore and Old Saybrook Assessor Norman Wood. Both assessors started their assessing careers in 1998.

Retirement of long tenured assessors this year include East Windsor Assessor Caroline Madore who was the assessor of East Windsor from 1998 to 2018, Easton Assessor Teresa Rainieri who retired after 31 ½ years of service, 24 as the head assessor and Guilford Assessor Edmund Corapinski who was assessor from 1997 to 2018.

2017 Movement of Assessors

The following towns appointed a new assessor during 2017. They include: Bethel Elizabeth Hirt, Bethlehem Linda Bertaccini, Bolton Interim Assessor Helen Totz, Brookfield Tammie Fiske, Cheshire Diane Waller, Danbury Acting Assessor Robert Zarbock, East Hampton Gail Pititto, Fairfield Ross Murray, Hamden Acting Assessor Donna Otlowski, Killingworth Michael Bekech, Lisbon Angel Johnstone, Middlefield Janet Baron, Monroe Acting Assessor Justin Feldman, New Hartford Cory Iacino, North Canaan Assessor Consultant Donna Patchen, Old Lyme Melinda Kronfeld, Plainfield Mary Ellen Hall, Plainville Ann Marie Heering, Plymouth Christie Arena, Portland Richard Lasky, Jr., Salisbury Kayla Johnson, Waterford Terence Dinnean and Woodbury Rae Ann Walcott.

Four assessors have been added to the 20-year group of assessors that have been employed in the same municipality for that period. Two assessors, Guilford Assessor Edmund Corapinski and Simsbury Assessor David Gardner have been employed in their respective municipality, as head assessors, for the last 20 years (1997 to present). Orange Assessor Mark Branchesi has been employed, as head assessor, in Orange for the last 21 years (1996 to present). Plainfield Assessor Joyce Stangeland has spent the last 21 years as the head assessor in Plainfield plus nine years as a clerk and assistant assessor, for a total of 30 years. The last two assessors should have been added to the 20-year group last year. The current leader of longevity of active assessors in the same municipality retired this year. Walter Kent, Old Lyme assessor for the past 38 years retired April 2017. He will now be tied with former Tolland Assessor Walter Lawrence who also has 38 years in the same municipality. Jane Dickman Buden stepped down after 24 years in Plainville, Teresa Rainieri retired this year after serving as the assessor of Easton for the last 23 years and Joyce Stangeland retired after 21 years as the assessor in Plainfield. David Lisowski retired after 23 years as the assessor of Wilton. The king of longevity in the same municipality belongs to former Bloomfield Assessor Peter Marsele with 53 years. Steve Hodgetts has gone back into retirement after helping out in Middlefield for the past year. A summary of those assessors with at least 20 years of longevity in the same municipality is listed in this publication.

The replacement of assessors that have retired or moved on to another towns was above the average this year. The average number of assessors moving to a new position in the last nine years was 13.7 per year. In 2017 there were 22 assessing position that changed. This was the second highest turnover rate since 2009 when this publication first began keeping records of such changes. In one of the assessor changes, Richard Lasky, Jr. came back to Portland. Richard was the assessor in Portland 2013 to 2014.

2016 has been record-breaking year for a change over of the head assessors' position. There have been 23 municipalities that have appointed new assessors during this year. Newly appointed assessors include: Bloomfield Todd Helems, Bridgeport Acting Assessor Daniel Kenny, Brookfield Donald Ross, Jr., Canton Interim Assessor Steven Kosofsky, Cheshire Acting Assessor Diane Waller, East Lyme Diane Vitagliano, Ellington Kim Bechard, Fairfield Acting Assessor Kenneth Carvell III, Haddam Jennifer Gauthier, Killingly Paul Hopkins, Ledyard Adrianna Hedwall, Middlefield Interim Assessor Steven Hodgetts, Morris Betsy Quist, Naugatuck Carol Ann Tyler, Newington Steven Kosofsky, Putnam Angela Sanchez, Scotland Kara Fishman, Somers Walter Topliff, South Windsor Mary Huda, Sprague Lynn Byberg, Watertown Donna Murphy, Weston Denise Hames, Willington Jody Heon. There are 5 other municipalities that are looking for a new assessor. Two of the above assessors came back from retirement. Steve Kosofsky was appointed as the new head assessor of Newington. Steve Hodgetts is helping out as the interim assessor of Middlefield.

Two assessors have reached the milestone of serving 20 or more years in the same municipality. They include: Stonington Assessor Marsha Standish and Waterbury Assessor David Dietsch. There are 15 assessors with 20 or more years of service in the same municipality that are still working. Old Lyme Assessor Walter Kent has the most continuous service with 37 years.

There are six long tenured assessors that have stepped down from the head assessing positions. They include Killingly Assessor Melissa Bonin 1984 to 2016, Putnam Assessor Rande Chmura 1986 to 2016, Watertown Assessor Carolyn Nadeau 2002 to 2016 and Cheshire Assessor Mario Panagrosso, Jr. 1994 to 2016. Steven and Pat Juda have stepped down from their respective assessing positions of Newington and Somers in 2016. There has been a continuing effort to update the various assessing functions for each municipality. This publication has noted the dates in a number of municipalities when their GIS systems were installed. The Committee is hoping that CAAO members will help with this project.

2015 Movements of Assessors

Three new features were added this year. The first change was a Historical Note feature that allows assessors to add the names of long tenured board of assessor's members to the listing of their respective towns. See East Windsor in this publication for an example of a Historical Note. This year there were nine long tenured boards of assessor members added. The towns included: Bolton, East Granby, East Windsor, Ellington, Harwinton, Lebanon, Old Saybrook, Simsbury and Suffield. The second added feature was the county name added to the listing of each municipality. The tax town was retained and is shown next to the name of the municipality. The third added feature is a summary by calendar year of the towns that hired a new head assessor.

Refining the listing of assessors and the dates they were in office is an on going process. Each issue of the publication adjustments has been made when certain positions were filled. An interesting correction was the listing of Herbert Shay as the first single assessor of Fairfield in our last publication. The first single assessor of Fairfield was Edgar Banks who was in office from 1935 to 1940. Mr. Banks previously served on the Fairfield Board of Assessors. Mr. Shay was appointed as the assistant assessor in 1934 and the assessor in 1940.

With all of the changes of head assessor positions this year, there were three notable retirements. They include, Carol Crawford, Eastford assessor from 1989 to 2015, Marge Dzwonchyk Ansonia assessor from 1988 to 2015 and Joan Paskewich, Windham assessor from 1992 to 2015. Joan has become a member of the CAAO Research/Historian Committee.

There have been 16 head assessing positions that have changed during 2015. This is the same number as in 2012 when 16 head assessing positions changed. The newly appointed assessors include the following: Ansonia Marsha Benno, Ashford Kara Fishman, Bloomfield Wendy Leon acting assessor, Bolton Mary Huda, Canterbury Lynn Byberg, Eastford Mary Lavallee, East Hampton Terence Dinnean, Ellington Walter Topliff, Naugatuck Joyce Alegi interim assessor, Portland Gail Pititto, Sprague Mary Huda, Stamford Gregory Stackpole, Sterling William Sebastian, Thomaston Robert Dudek, Wethersfield Fauna Eller, and Windham Chandler Rose.

On military leave: Coventry assessor once again is on a one year military leave from 4/15 to 3/16. This is the second time that Michael D'Amicol has been called to active duty. Helen Totz assumed the duties as the interim assessor

Two assessors have reached the milestone of serving 20 or more years in the same municipality. They include: Woodbridge Assessor Betsy Quist 1995 to current and Canton Assessor Harry DerAsadourian 1995 to current. Harry also has served as the assessor in the town of Avon for the last 29 years. There are 17 assessors with 20 or more years in the same municipality that are still working. The Abstract of the Single Assessors in Connecticut first came out in 2009. A book was maintained, with corrections, from 2009 to 2011 for the various changes in head assessors. The next printed updates were in 2012, 2013, 2014, and 2015.

2014 Movements of Assessors

This is the third update of the “Abstract of the Single Assessors in Connecticut.” 2014 started out somewhat slow with the changing of the head assessor’s positions, but it ended with a bang. This year there were 12 head assessor positions that changed compared to six in 2013.

The following towns have appointed new head assessors during 2014. They include: Burlington Elizabeth Paul, Farmington Christine Barta, Lebanon Emma Sousa, Middlebury Christopher Kelsey, Middlefield David Stannard, Monroe Richard Lasky, Jr., Newtown Penny Mudgett, North Branford David Ambrose, Stafford Tami Rossi, Thomaston Jennifer O’Neill, Voluntown Paige Donovan, Winchester Rhonda Roy and Windsor Locks Elizabeth Duffy.

There were five long tenured assessors that retired during 2014. They include: Linda Arnold Farmington assessor from 1979 to 2014, Steven Hodgetts Middlefield assessor from 1999 to 2014, and Meriden assessor 1985 to 1999, Francis Kirwin Stamford assessor 1982 to 2014, Janice McKie Winchester assessor 1988 to 2013, and Donna Murphy Windsor Locks assessor from 1999 to 2014.

There were three assessors added to the 20 years or more in the same municipality list. They include: Cheshire Assessor Mario Panagrosso, Easton Assessor Teresa Rainieri and Wilton Assessor David Lisowski all have been the head assessor in their respective towns from 1994 to the present. At the present time there are 18 active assessors with 20 or more years in the same municipality. On a sadder note was the passing of Thompson Assessor Sebrina Heroux on December 2, 2014. Sebrina had been the assessor of Thompson since 2008.

2013 Movements of Assessors

This will be the second update of the “Abstract of the Single Assessors in Connecticut.” The first edition was completed December 2009, with additional updates in December 2012 and this update of December 2013. There is no doubt that the first addition was the most labor intense. Starting from scratch, investigating all of the 169 towns was by no means an easy task. Refinements of dates have been an on-going process and with the help of CAAO members that process will continue. Every effort has been made to determine the authenticity of the data that is entered into this publication. The committee welcomes any additional information or corrections. Special thanks must go to CAAO web master Larry LaBarbera and Assessoreporter Editor Steve Hodgetts for their help in the notification of assessing changes in their respective news outlets.

There have been six head assessing positions that have changed during 2013. They include Bridgeport Acting Assessor Elaine Carvalho moving up to assessor; Hamden’s Ross Murray interim assessor moving up to chief assessor; Dan Kenny Middlebury assessor moving on to become the deputy assessor of Bridgeport and Joyce Alegi becoming the interim assessor of Middlebury; long time North Canaan Assessor Anthony Barber retiring with Linda Bertaccini becoming the interim assessor; Richard Lasky, Jr. becoming the assessor of Portland; long time assessor Barbara Johnson of Washington retiring with Delisse Locher becoming the assessor; and Deborah Zunda former Meriden deputy assessor became the assessor of Meriden.

At the present time there are 19 assessors that have 20 or more years in the same municipality and are still working there. The three newest assessors to join the 20 year round table include Colchester Assessor John Chaponis who has been the assessor there from 1992 to the present. John should have been added last year. The other 20-year members are Plainville Assessor Jane Dickman Buden and Deep River Assessor Robin O’Loughlin both have been the head assessor in their respective towns since 1993 to the present.

The best update of the publication has been the return of Coventry Assessor Michael D’Amicol who has returned from active military duty and has assumed his old duties as the assessor. Thank you for your service to our country and a job well done!

Last but not least has been the updating of the municipalities that have recently installed GIS systems. Many of these systems have been installed since our original publication in 2009, so e-mails were sent to those municipalities for a date of installation. You will notice capital letters after the dates on some GIS systems. The letters stand for the regional planning agency that implemented the GIS system (“SCCOG” = Southern Connecticut Council of Government). In some cases there is no link to the assessor’s office. Not all e-mails have been answered, but the committee is hoping that those assessors will help in the documentation of historical facts. Twenty years from now someone might want to know something about your office.

Movement of Assessors over the last decade in Connecticut

The following information was gathered from the CAAO Research/Historian publication Abstract of the Single Assessors in Connecticut. The publication first came out in 2009. It has compiled a listing of the single assessors appointed subsequent to the local board of assessors in all 169 municipalities.

During the period of January 1, 2009 thru December 31, 2018 there have been 144 head assessor changes in Connecticut municipalities. The 144 changes occurred in 100 different municipalities. There were 29 municipalities that had multi-changes in the head assessor position. The following is a breakdown of these assessor changes.

- 71 municipalities had one change in the assessor position over the 10-year period
- 17 municipalities had two changes in the assessor position over the 10-year period
- 10 municipalities had three changes in the assessor position over the 10-year period
- 1 municipality had four changes in the assessor position over the 10-year period
- 1 municipality had five changes in the assessing position over the 10-year period

Shown below, by population grouping, are the 29 municipalities that had multi-changes in the assessors’ position. Included in those changes are 12 assessors that were appointed on an interim or acting status that did not assume the permanent assessors’ position.

- Population under 5,000 there were nine municipalities
- Population from 5,000 to 10,000 there were eight municipalities
- Population from 10,000 to 20,000 there were six municipalities
- Population from 20,000 to 40,000 there were two municipalities
- Population from 40,000 to over 100,000 there were four municipalities

There are a number of reasons why people move onto other positions. It is the goal of both the employer and the employee to establish a positive work environment that is conducive to executing the duties of the position. In most cases, the situation works out. There are some circumstances that don't quite meet those expectations. Why have some of these assessors moved on? Listed below, not in any particular order, are just a few of those reasons.

Lack of proper staffing

Inadequate compensation compared with other communities

The job just is not the proper fit

Job expectations were not what you thought they would be

The driving time between your home and the job is too much

Not compatible with the administration or office personnel

The administration is not compatible with you

A desire to move on to a better position

Change in pension and medical benefits

Retirement of the current assessor

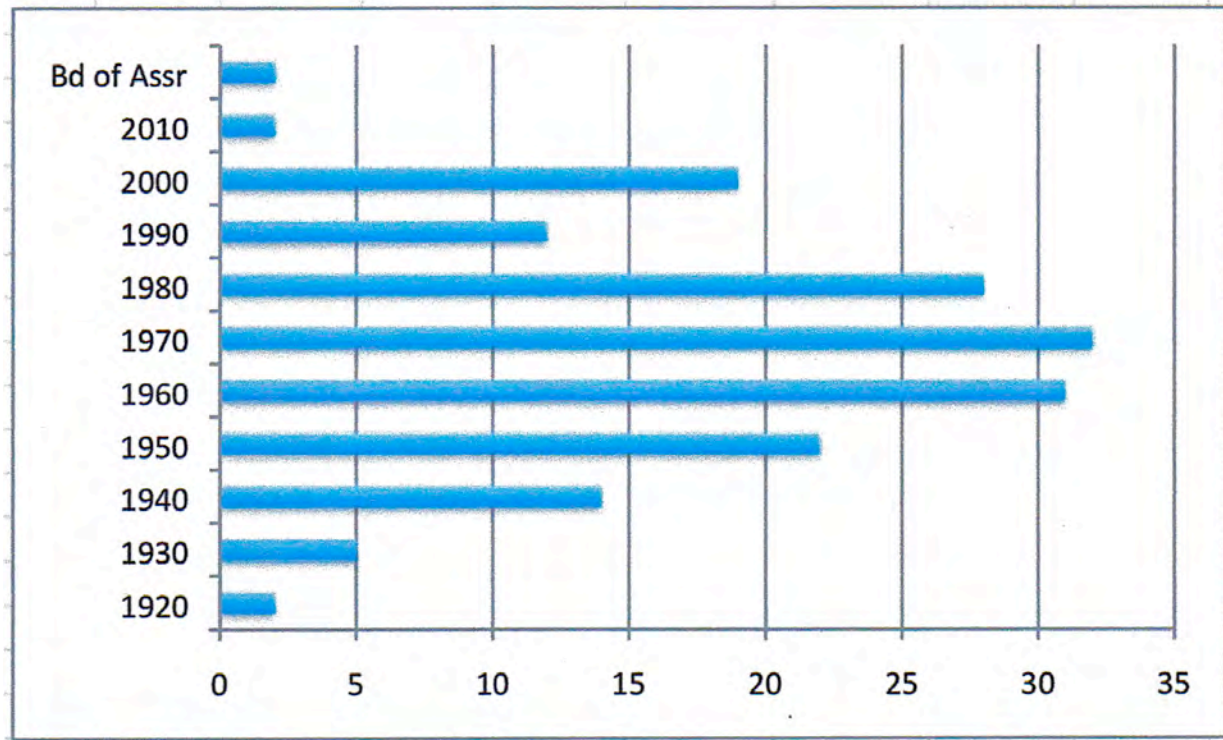

Appointment of single assessors in Connecticut

The chart shown below list the decade in which a single assessor position was created in a Connecticut municipality. The majority of assessors in Connecticut were appointed in the 1960s, 1970s and 1980s. There were 91 appointments of a single assessor during that period. The first appointment of a single assessor in Connecticut was 1921 in the City of New London.

There are three municipalities that have appointed a single assessor in conjunction with a board of assessors. There are two municipalities, Hartland and Lyme, which have just a board of assessor.

The Makeup of the Head Assessors Position in Connecticut

The CAAO Research/Historian Committee has completed a study to determine what percentage of men and women occupy the head assessor’s position in Connecticut. The study is based on the data that is compiled from the publication Abstract of the Single Assessors in Connecticut.¹ The publication was originally published in 2009 and is now updated annually.

The study compiled data for 1960, 1980, 2000, 2010 and 2020 in Connecticut’s 169 towns and cities. The following assessors occupy a single assessor position in Connecticut during those periods.

| Year | Breakdown | Towns | Percentage |
|-------------|--------------------|--------------|-------------------|
| 1960 | Woman | 2 | 1% |
| | Men | 45 | 27% |

The biggest change in the makeup of the assessors’ position was the period between 1980 and 2000 where women occupied the head assessors’ position. The board of assessor’s makeup is almost completely dissolved from 1960 to 2020. This is the result of the requirement that assessors most now be certified.
